

"The Yankee Tourist" Coming to Town Along With "The Alaskan" Next Week

Raymond Hitchcock to Return as a Singing Comedian in Remodelled Piece—Knickerbocker to Have Comic Opera That Sounds Cool—Russell Brothers Will Revel in "The Hired Girl's Millions."

HALF a dozen theatres will open their doors for the new season next week, among them two Broadway houses, at which new musical comedies will be seen.

Richard Harding Davis' former play, "The Galloper," has been turned into a musical farce called "The Yankee Tourist," in which Raymond Hitchcock will appear at the Astor Theatre on Monday night. Wallace Irwin has written the lyrics and Alfred Braham has supplied the music. Mr. Hitchcock, this time with song to smooth the way, will again have the role of an adventurous young New Yorker who goes to Alaska and passes himself off as a war correspondent during the Russo-Turkish war. His support will include Flora Zabelle, Helen Hale, Susie Forrester, Cawthorn, Eva Fallon, Herbert Cawthorn, Harry West, Harry Lane and Wallace Beery.

"The Alaskan" is the name of a new comic opera that repeats the redecorated Knickerbocker on Monday evening. The book and lyrics are by Joseph Blottian, a Seattle newspaper man, and the score by Harry Gilson. Agnes Cain Brown will have the prima donna role, and others will be Edward Martindale, Teddy Webb, Harold Visard, Amy Leocaster, Anne Adair and William Pabey.

The Academy of Music will begin its new season on Monday evening with "Montezuma and Heath in the Ham Tree." The engagement will be for three weeks.

The Russell Brothers will come to Blaney's Lincoln Square Theatre with a new musical farce called "The Hired Girl's Millions."

The American Theatre will have "The Great Express Rooster."

"The Gambler of the West" will move to the Fourteenth Street Theatre.

"The Life of an Actress" will be revealed at the Star.

Hurtig & Segmon's Music Hall will open on Monday evening with the Pekin Stock Company of colored performers in "Kutus Jones."

The Dewey will start in again next Saturday night with the Gay Foresters as the attraction.

Joseph Santley, in "Billy the Kid," will be the attraction at the Thalia.

ROOFS AND VAUDEVILLE.

At Hammerstein's Paradise Roof Garden will be Arthur Prince, the English ventriloquist, and Harold Lloyd, the comedian, and others.

A new feature at the Jardi n de Paris will be the Gibson Bathing Girls, led by the stunneress Annabel Whitford.

"The Honeycombers," George M. Cohan's musical farce, will, on Monday evening, enter upon its last two weeks at the New Amsterdam Theatre roof.

Two Alhambra Theatre and Roof Garden will have the Empire and the Quartet, Arthur Dunn and Marie Glazier, in "The Messenger Boy."

Bertha Walzinger, Jack Norworth, the characteristic Musical Union and Wells, the Six Bonnets, and Lavina and Leonard.

On the Metropolitan Theatre roof will be Connors and Alder, Jean Brooks, John Backer, John Fields, Gilbert and Karen and Shelby and Grace.

Kath & Proctor's theatres, Dick Bonch's play, will be at the Spoozer Stock Company at the Fifth Avenue Theatre. At the Twenty-third Street Theatre will be in "Planophens," the Sherman De Forest company in "The Battle of San Diego."

Charlotte Parry, who plays the character in "The Comstock Mystery," Miss Willa Hope Wakefield in song readings and others. The Musical Union will have among others the Metairie troupe of acrobats, Seers, the Illusionist, Juno Saito, contortionist, John and Roddard and Ned Nye and his dancing girls. "The Belle of Hitchcock," a new melodrama, will be produced by the stock company at the Harlem Opera House. The bill at the One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street Theatre will include Le Jella Bianche in imitations, Adeline Dunlap in "The Operator," the Avon Comedy Four and Swends, James Brockman and his girls and Madge Fox.

Tony Pastor will offer Herbert Lloyd, comedy juggler, Hayes, Wynne and Theresa in a musical farce, Thompson Sisters, William Cahill, Irish comedian, the Moores, Dineelly and Rosali, Russell and Davis, Meyer and Mason, Raymond and Clark, Bertina and Brookway, and others.

At the Atlantic Garden will be the Alberts, novelty artists, Hayes and Wynne, singers and dancers, Mr. and Mrs. Hodges, musicians; Jack Marshall, "mugshots," and Lillian Jennette, vocalist.

Shane's Museum will have among its vaudeville features, the Hays and Wynne, Danford and Riley, Heiden and Dewar, the Great Hobson and these Andersons.

SEASIDE AMUSEMENTS.

A special display of Paul's fireworks will be particularly amusing to children on Monday night at Manhattan Beach. Tuesday night's display will be in honor of the Y. M. C. A., when a portrait of the Y. M. C. A. will be shown, and Friday night's display will be for the benefit of the Cantine Benevolent League.

The height of the summer season here, Luna Park at the top notch of success and popularity.

Amateur actors will be given an opportunity to show what they can do on Broadway on Friday night.

HELEN HALE

West is a popular attraction at Brighton Beach Park. Several new and thrilling acts are to be seen at West's Animal Arena, Coney Island.

Elia and Lulu Zuela, in their high-wire act, will remain for another week as a special attraction at Golden City, Canarsie.

Somewhat scorching but still in the ring, Streptichas Park, Coney Island, continues to offer twenty-five shows for 3 cents.

For next week's bill the Brighton Beach Music Hall will have the London Art Models, Bert Leslie in "Hollywood," the Olympia Quartet, Sydney Grant, Lola Hawthorne, Mosher, Houghton and Mosher, and Little Bob.

At Morrissey's Theatre, Rockaway Beach, will be Julius Steger in "The Fifth Commandment," the Marco Twins, Grace Hazard, who calls herself "Five Feet of Comic Opera," Max Witt's Singing Colliery, W. C. Fields, American night Monday, Sydney and Gallagher and Britt in "The Battle of the Clouds."

Mist in the Marvel, with his spiral tower, will be the chief feature of the free outdoor vaudeville at Happyland, Staten Island.

Bickel and Watson, comedians and musical performers, who have scored a hit at the Jardin de Paris, have been engaged for a term of years by P. Ziegfeld, Jr. He made an arrangement with them to perform at the Garden, to whom they were under contract.

Mr. Ziegfeld intends to retain Bickel and Watson in his musical review, "Follies of 1907," as long as it is played, and then to star them in a special new production.
